By Annette Ezekiel

The Council Chairman Pharmacist Legu Mhangwa awarding the ICT specialist Mr. Gadi Yamwaka for developing Online Continuing Professional Development System (CPD) platform in September, 2019.

As part of the World Pharmacists' Day, 25th September, 2019, The Chairman of the Pharmacy Council, Pharmacist Legu Mhangwa launched the Council's new and innovative e-Learning CPD platform amid fanfare at the Councils Sub Offices in Dar-es-Salaam.

The online platform will provide pharmacists, pharmaceutical technicians and assistants access to continuous professional development course materials. The platform will provide online capacity building courses aimed at sharpening professional skills for better performance and attaining proper qualifications required by laws and regulations.

In his launching speech, the Pharmacy Council Chairman, Legu Mhangwa said as Tanzanian pharmacists marked World

Pharmacists Day they should bear in mind that regular self-study on various topics of pharmacy and medicine in general is crucial. "We mark this day to remind ourselves our responsibilities, bring inspiration to young pharmacists and show the world our commitment to developing the International Pharmaceutical Federation (FIP)," Mr. Mhangwa noted.

"Continuous learning and studying is a weapon for continuous competence development and subsequently ensuring appropriate medicines selection, dispensing, counseling and rational use monitoring", He added.

Explaining about the e-learning platform initiative, the Council Registrar, Elizabeth Shekalaghe said, "The platform initiative will serve as career development and growth to pharmacists and other professionals in the country. It will help the Council in monitoring how each regulated personnel is engaged in knowledge and skills development as required by law and regulations"

Under this e-learning platform pharmacists can go online and choose areas of interest to study and increase knowledge.

"We will be uploading the platform with up-to-date learning materials for every level of pharmaceutical personnel to keep them up-to-date since medicines are changing," Registrar explained.

The platform will consist of courses for pharmacists, pharmaceutical technicians and pharmaceutical assistants. The e-Learning system will be used as a tool to test the competence of professionals when applying for annual licenses since such professionals are required to learn at least three new pharmaceutical areas every year to keep them well-informed.

Millions of pharmacists worldwide celebrated World Pharmacists Day on 25th September 2019, whose theme was "safe and effective medicines for all." It aimed at promoting pharmacists' role in safeguarding patient safety through improving medication use and reducing medication errors.

Young Tanzanian Intern Pharmacist Scoops Lady Diana Award

By Anna Temu

Tanzania Intern Pharmacist, Erick Venant (25), has been awarded, 'The Diana Award', a charity legacy in honour of Lady Diana, Princess of Wales. Erick has been awarded in recognition of his efforts to bring positive change in the health sector in the country. The award ceremony took place in the United Kingdom in July 2019.

As a pharmacy student, Erick was aware of antimicrobial agents and their impact on health worldwide, as well as the danger posed by the growing resistance to the lifesaving drugs. While still an undergraduate student, Erick led a team that successfully brought attention to antimicrobial resistance to schools all over the country through a nationwide campaign. Through television and radio stations, Erick reached a huge population of people, with antimicrobial ambassadors continuing to spread the message within their communities.

His work has encouraged more people in health, agriculture and the community to pay more attention to the problem of antimicrobial resistance and their part in causing or addressing it.

The Diana Award develops and inspires positive change in the lives of young people through three key programs which include mentoring programs for young people at risk, a youth-led anti-bullying ambassador's campaign and a prestigious award which publicly recognizes young people.

Erick Venant is among 20 young people chosen from a pool of exceptional individuals as one of this year's Legacy Award recipients. The Legacy Award has been launched to inspire and celebrate the achievements of outstanding young leaders, visionaries and role models across the world who demonstrate their ability to inspire and mobilise new generations to serve their communities.

The Award & Development Programme Coordinator, Ms. Naomi Dixon further elaborated that the Legacy Award event is a three day programme designed for the award holders to learn from experts in the field and grasp a unique perspective into the private, public and non-profit world as well as provide a chance to network.

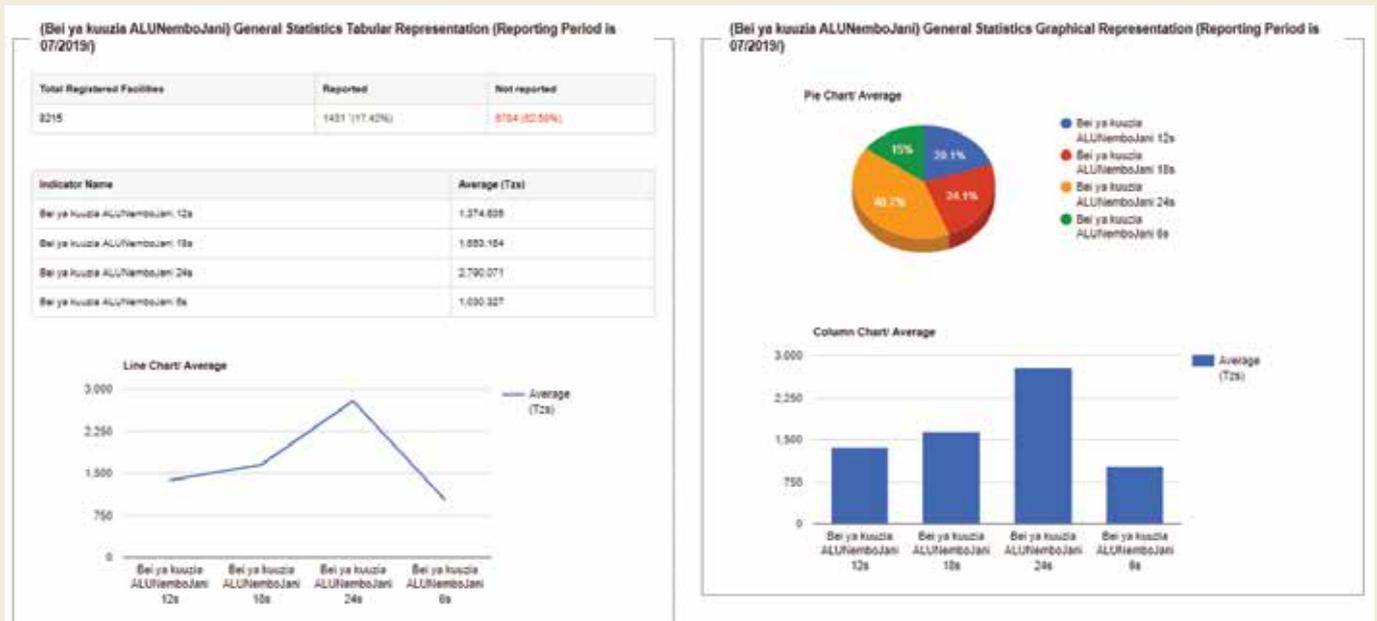

We congratulate Erick Venant for his outstanding achievement and urge other young pharmacy professionals to be inspired and bring remarkable change in the health sector and community at large.

Council Conducts Training on Surveillance of Malaria and ACTs

By Lucy Mgaya

More than 2627 participants, Owners and dispensers of Pharmacies and ADDO outlets from all districts and Municipalities of Singida, Dodoma, Manyara and Arusha Regions were trained on surveillance of malaria and ACTs. Training in the four regions took place between 30th July and 24th September, 2019.

The aim of the training is to impart knowledge to owners and dispensers on importance of recording patient's information, particularly malaria cases and their management for adults and under-fives attended at the drug outlets, and to submit the data to the Pharmacy Council on monthly basis as summarized reports through USSD enhanced mobile messages.

The training in the above four regions comes as continuation of similar training conducted in eight other regions namely Ruvuma, Njombe, Morogoro, Pwani, Lindi, Mtwara, Tabora and Kigoma, The training is conducted by the Pharmacy Council under sponsorship of the Global Fund.

Pharmacist Erick Bokango educating ADDO Owners and Dispensers on record management and reporting availability of Anti Malarials from private sectors.

The Council maintains a database which serves as a reservoir of all data received on monthly basis and is capable of sharing it with the National Malaria Control Program (NMCP).

Malaria is one of the top febrile illnesses and the leading cause of deaths in Tanzania. It is in that perspective that the Government has engaged the Private sector; dubbed as PPP by subsidizing the price of the first line choice of treatment of Malaria (Artemether/Lumefantrine-ALu). On monitoring and evaluating that approach, it was found important therefore the availability and price of the subsidized Alu should be surveyed. The plan is to complete the surveillance for all regions in Tanzania Mainland and weigh on the effectiveness of the approach.

It is in the expectation of the Council that the trained participants will send data in regular pattern that will aid the subsequent analysis.
